Difference between a T73W and a T73 U

Note: The only difference between the Yealink T73 U and T73 W models is their wireless connectivity capabilities. All other features and call functionality remain the same.

- T73W: Features integrated dual-band Wi-Fi 6 (2.4GHz/5GHz) and Bluetooth 5.0 out of the box for wireless networks and Bluetooth headsets.
- T73U: Does not have built-in wireless. It requires specific external USB adapters (like the WF50 for Wi-Fi or BT41 for Bluetooth) if you want wireless capabilities.

On the T73U, that specific Wi-Fi menu layout will only appear if an external Wi-Fi USB dongle is plugged into the back of the phone.

On the T73W, users can natively scan and enter passwords for Wi-Fi networks directly under Menu > Basic > Wi-Fi.
